

Further Action on Robin Moor Sinking Postponed for Time

Arrival of Report by American Consul on Monday Awaited

Washington, June 14—(AP)—Sumner Welles, Undersecretary of State, declared today in a discussion of Berlin statements, that Americans "have never been impressed by what they regard as bluster or threats".

He made that statement in reply to newspapermen's queries concerning the attitude of the United States on a German spokesman's threat that any ship carrying contraband to England would be sunk.

While he would make no final statement until the full facts of the sinking of the American merchantman Robin Moor had been received, Welles remarked it was possible to look at the issues in a dispassionate way.

The facts and issues, Welles declared, are that an American merchant ship in accordance with the traditional historical policy of this country on the high seas, engaged in peaceful commerce, was sunk in the middle of the Atlantic ocean far removed from any combat area.

Had No Contraband

The American vessel Welles emphasized, did not carry any cargo which was prohibited by American law or which was considered contraband by the United States and the cargo was not destined for any port in a combat zone.

That vessel, the undersecretary declared, had on board American citizens, including women and a child, who he said were forced to take to small life boats, counter to all international law, international morality and humanity.

It is probable, the undersecretary went on, that three-fourths of the passengers and crew of the vessel have been lost.

Welles also announced that the state department had received a categorical denial from William Phillips, ambassador to Rome, of reports that some survivors of the Robin Moor had arrived in Italy.

Protest Expected

Widespread congressional support appeared to be developing today whatever protests and demands the state department may dispatch to Germany as a result of the sinking of the American merchant ship Robin Moor by a submarine.

Senator Barkley, the Democratic leader, said he thought a protest note ought to be sent immediately.

Warner Is Elected 3rd Vice President of Illinois Bankers

Champaign, Ill., June 14—(AP)—The aim of United States courts says District Judge Bolitha L. Laws of Washington, D. C., "must be to get justice, to lessen the cost and to promote their prestige".

The District of Columbia justice was the principal speaker last night at the final session of the 65th annual convention of the Illinois State Bar Association.

Preceding his address, announcement was made of the election of officers and members of the board of governors. Benjamin Wham of Chicago was unopposed for the presidency of the association, succeeding Albert J. Harno. Other officers are Clarence W. Diver, Waukegan, first vice president; Warren Buckley, Chicago, second vice president, and Henry C. Warner, Dixon, third vice president.

Albert J. Jenner of Chicago was elected to the Cook county board of governors, and Frederic Burnham of Chicago was named member at large. Other members included David Lansden, Cairo; George D. Burroughs, Edwardsville; Kaywin Kennedy, Bloomington; Charles Lauder, Monmouth; Thomas Welch, Keokuk; Philip H. Ward, Sterling, and Donald Gray, Kankakee.

For U. S. Bomber

Aurora, Ill., June 13—(AP)—Aurorans were poking into attics and storerooms for old aluminumware to go into the manufacture of a bombing plane.

The drive will continue through next week with a goal of 40,000 pounds, or enough for one plane.

The articles will be collected in McCarthy park, at the police barn and fire stations under auspices of the Hal Carr chapter of Disabled World War Veterans.

Similar collections have been made in other cities.

Three Dixon FFA Youths Awarded Degrees at Meet

Three Dixon high school graduates of the Class of '41 were awarded Future Farmers of America state degrees at the annual convention held this week at the University of Illinois. The honored students of the Dixon agriculture classes are Elmer Ringler, Gail Harms and Warren Schult who were accompanied to the convention by their instructor, L. V. Slothower.

State degrees are awarded on the basis of outstanding work in vocational agriculture and the student must have an 85 grade average or be within the upper 40 per cent of his class scholastically. In addition, candidates must have earned at least $250 from their farm projects and must have shown evidence of leadership by holding an office in either a local or state chapter of the F. F. A.

Results of the judging contests in which Dixon students also competed were not known today and probably will not be released from convention sources until the first of the week.

Next Tuesday Gail and George Harms and Robert Hill will enter lambs in the Junior Market Lamb Show in Chicago.

Weather for Fathers' Day Will Be Better

Chicago, June 14—(AP)—The weather man promised today that Mother Nature would brighten things up a bit, meteorologically speaking, for Father's Day in the central west tomorrow.

Forecaster G. L. Canaday of the United States weather bureau predicted an end to the rains that have been pelting the north-central states for a week, and indicated that Dads in the entire area would get a chance to use the new golf clubs or other sports equipment they receive as Father's Day gifts.

No more rains were forecast for the area, except for the east portion to lower Michigan for which a light rain or drizzle was predicted. Fair and warmer weather was expected in Iowa, Minnesota, North and South Dakota and Nebraska. Cloudy or partly cloudy was the forecast for the rest of the north-central district for Sunday, but by Monday the entire area is expected to have fair weather.

Truck Plunges Into River; Driver Drowns

Mt. Vernon, Ind., June 14—(AP)—Hillard M. Edwards, 28, Fairfield, Ill., truck driver, drowned last night as his truck plunged from a ferry flat into the Wabash river.

Edwards was hauling drilling equipment to a Posey county oil test. He fell from the cab of the truck when the vehicle dropped into the river. Bystanders heard his cries for help and attempted unsuccessfully to throw a life preserver to him. The body had not been recovered.

Edwards is survived by the widow and a daughter.

Police Will Aid Street Dept. in Keeping Streets of Dixon Clean

Acting on orders from Commissioner Cal G. Tyler, members of the Dixon police department today were instructed to arrest and fine any individuals who fail to observe the ordinance pertaining to the dumping of refuse in streets, alleys, or vacant lots. The order was given last evening at the close of the city council session, when complaint was registered from various sections of the city that dumping of refuse and garbage has become a menace.

Commissioner Tyler emphasized the fact that the city maintains a dumping ground west of the city limits on Third street with an experienced attendant present. All members of the council were in accord with the action to halt the practice which has been complained of bitterly recently in certain sections of the city.

Commissioner Tyler also called attention to the necessity for in-

No Tax Enactment Before September, Barkley Predicts

Senate Ready to Pass Relief Bill Quickly, Leader Declares

Washington, June 14—(AP)—Predicting a long congressional fight over tax legislation, Senate Democratic Leader Barkley expressed doubt today that a defense revenue bill could be sent to President Roosevelt before next September.

Barkley, just released from Naval Hospital after treatment for a tooth infection, said in an interview that "there will be a lot of pulling and hauling" before the tax measure is worked into final form.

If the House sends a revenue bill to the Senate early in July, the senator said, two or three weeks of finance committee hearings still will be necessary before the measure reaches the Senate floor.

There is expected to arouse considerable debate and even after it is passed by the Senate, Barkley said, some time will be required to adjust differences between House and Senate versions.

Meanwhile, arrangements were made to speed Senate consideration of an $885,905,000 relief bill to finance WPA employment of an average of 1,000,000 persons during the 12 months beginning July 1. Employment at that average would be 41 per cent less than the average of the present fiscal year, ending June 30.

The measure was approved by the House yesterday. A Senate appropriations subcommittee will take it up early next week. It carries $95,000 less than President Roosevelt requested and 35 per cent less than President Roosevelt requested and 35 per cent less than the $1,350,650,000 available to WPA this year.

The House-approved measure would continue restrictions against WPA employment of subversive elements. A provision that sponsors must finance at least 25 per cent of the cost of non-federal projects also was retained.

"Hardship" Eliminated
By a 169 to 165 vote, the House eliminated, however, a provision requiring rotation of employment by discharging every person who stays on WPA rolls for 18 consecutive months. Roosevelt told Congress last month the requirement has worked "a great hardship on many persons."

Aside from the tax and relief measures, Barkley said that the general legislative situation now shapes up as follows:
1. There is little doubt that the

Blast Injures 5 of Tanker's Crew

Philadelphia, June 14—(AP)—A terrific explosion aboard the Venezuelan oil tanker Coronoi today injured five crew members and caused extensive damage to the 3,164-ton ship.

The blast, which occurred in the forward storage tank while the crew men were preparing to enter it to complete a cleaning operation, lifted the entire bow of the ship out of the water at the Gulf Refining Company's Schuykill river pier. The men were tossed in the air and dropped back on the deck several feet from a deck hatch where they had been working.

Detective Sergeant John McGarrity of the Philadelphia police, reported Captain Santiago Rodriguez, flag captain of the vessel, said the "only possible explanation" for the explosion was an accumulation of vapor touched off by a light bulb which was being lowered into the tank.

There was no fire.

The explosion was heard for miles throughout south and southwest Philadelphia.

Two Killed When Car Hits Truck Near Joliet

Joliet, Ill., June 14—(AP)—William Montana, 30, and Alice Peck, were killed today when Montana's car and a truck collided about 12 miles north of Joliet. The woman's age and address could not immediately be ascertained.

The truck driver, Paul Johnson, 28, of Omaha, Neb., escaped with minor bruises.

Fort Sheridan Center Opens After Quarantine

Fort Sheridan, Ill., June 14—(AP)—The recruit reception center at Fort Sheridan reopened today following 11 days of quarantine for scarlet fever.

Upwards of 5,000 troops on the reservation were inoculated after eight fever cases were discovered June 3. No additional cases developed.

Canvassing Board of 1940 Defendant in Damage Action

Chicago, June 14—(AP)—The state primary canvassing board of 1940 was named defendant today in a $50,000 damage suit filed in Federal court by Joseph E. Snowden, Chicago negro attorney and Republican candidate for state representative in the 1940 primary election.

Snowden's suit alleged that the board refused to certify him as one of the two Republican nominees after the April 8, 1940 primary.

The action was directed at the estate of the late Governor Henry Horner; Edward J. Hughes, secretary of state; and Louis E. Lewis, former state treasurer. The canvassing board is composed of the governor, secretary of state, and state treasurer.

Snowden ran third in the Republican primary but he contended that he actually ranked second in view of the slaying on election day of A. Andrew Torrence, who received the second highest number of Republican votes.

The plaintiff alleged that by a agreement Republicans were to select two candidates and the Democrats one for the three vacancies in the third senatorial district. Hence, nomination was tantamount to election.

Snowden's suit said that the canvassing board refused to place his name on the ticket in the election and accepted the name of Charles J. Jenkins. The later, the suit charged, was selected on the recommendation of the senatorial committee of the third district in violation of law.

Intoxicated Transient Owes Life to Dixonite

James Briggs, 52, of Tiffin, Ohio, owes his life to James Buchanan, mail messenger, who rescued him from beneath the wheels of the NorthWestern fast passenger train Cor King here last evening. Buchanan was making ready to receive the consignment of mail for the Dixon post office as the train came to a stop at the passenger station, and observed Briggs topple from the bumper between the locomotive and first car to the ground between the rails.

The mail messenger called Patrolman John Bohnstiel and they pulled the transient from beneath the train, loaded him in a car and hauled him to the police station. At police headquarters, it was reported that Briggs was intoxicated. Had he not been observed as he fell from the bumper, his body would have been mangled when the train started from Dixon.

Luckiest Day

Springfield, Ill., June 14—(AP)—Mr. and Mrs. William Standage won't listen to people who are fearful of bad luck on Friday, the 13th. They proclaim the day and the date as the luckiest in the calendar.

Their reason: Yesterday, the 13th, Mrs. Standage gave birth to a son. Eleven years ago yesterday—Friday, June 13, 1930—their son William was born. And four years ago, on a Friday, William was hit by a train, dragged several hundred feet and escaped with only minor injuries.

Bucher, mother of Mrs. Hughes.

Civilian Defense Training Program Will Be Moderate

New York—(The Special News Service)—The Office of Civilian Defense proposes to sweeten as much as possible the bitter ounce of air-raid casualty prevention Americans must take to escape the proverbial pound of cure.

Few, probably, will suffer more than petty annoyance from safety drills, practice blackouts and whatever other operations may become necessary to prepare all citizens to protect their own lives.

Mayor F. H. LaGuardia, OGD director, hastened to quiet shudders among business men and householders with an informal statement that while he means to avoid rather than to repair possible bomb damage, he would not go hog-wild with his program.

All, however, LaGuardia warned, must be willing to make some small sacrifice of customary comforts and profits.

First and foremost, his aides say, the fact that OGD will teach people that the ground and top floors of buildings often are death-traps when the bombs fall will not be permitted to upset violently the average level of property values and rentals.

Nor, unless war seems inevitable, will officials urge a shifting of population from undefendable areas to the so-called "safety" zones. Real estate operators have been fearful that civilian defense

Speeder Arrested Going to Inquest

Chicago, June 14—(AP)—On June 6 Mrs. Ella Cleary, 79 died in the county hospital and Raymond Nestelhut, Jr., 16, driver of a car which struck her May 29, was charged with reckless driving and failure to have a state license city license or safety sticker.

Sergeant Ralph Riley yesterday chased and halted a car after he said he had clocked it while going 55 miles an hour and weaving through heavy traffic. It was driven by Nestelhut, and the officer quoted the youth:

"You can't arrest me, I've got to get to an inquest on time."

Riley took Nestelhut to the morgue in a police car. There witnesses testified he was driving at high speed when he hit Mrs. Cleary. A corner jury held him to the grand jury on a charge of manslaughter.

Riley said Nestelhut's 1931 model car still was without licenses and sticker.

National Unity Is Second Only to National Defense, Says Judge Zick

Despite the unsuitable weather which prevented holding the Elks annual Flag Day program at Haymarket Square last evening, a large number gathered in the Loveland Community House for the program. Many of the patriotic organizations participated in the parade, which was shortened because of threat of rain and proceeded directly from the Elks club house to the Community House.

Judge Leon A. Zick of Oregon was the speaker, the program having been carried out as announced.

"In years of peace," Judge Zick said, "we are apt to take our Americanism more or less for granted. This year we think of those millions who are starving in Europe without sufficient food, of millions of others who are hiding in burrows in the ground for fear of being bombed, and still of other millions who live in constant

Fall of Damascus Matter of Hours: City Unfortified

The War Today!

(Telegraph Special Service)
(This daily feature, conducted by Dewitt Mackenzie, is being written in his absence on vacation by Fred Vanderschmidt.)

Little Dr. Goebbels either is turning a Machiavellian trick of propaganda or else he is in a jam again.

Yesterday Dr. Goebbels put a piece in Adolf Hitler's own newspaper in which he hinted in a heavy-handed way that the invasion of Crete would be followed in two months by the invasion of England.

The first few copies were barely off the presses when the plates were destroyed and the Goebbels article yanked out and replaced with something innocuous.

It may be that Dr. Goebbels did the whole thing with tongue in cheek to give the British a few shivers—certainly there seems to have been no secret made of the plan; the article itself, or part of it, has been cabled abroad, and on the surface it does not appear to contain any worth-while military information which might be of aid to the British.

Goebbels is perfectly capable of pulling off such a stunt to attract British—and American—attention to his story.

There is, however, an alternative, and it is that Hitler quashed the little doctor's invasion prediction because he did not believe it would be good for German morale.

These are the days when the black messenger, in Nazi uniform, is knocking at the doors of German homes, proud and humble, and telling mothers and fathers that Rudi, or Hans, or Willi, will not come home from Crete.

The mothers and fathers of the German soldiers who still live can see from their own casualty figures of 5,893 lost in Crete that it cost more in dead, wounded and missing to subdue a rocky, poorly-defended Mediterranean island than it did to conquer the Balkans; more Germans than were lost in the Norwegian blitzkrieg.

This is true even if they believe the German figures.

Hence these mothers and fathers of the still living can look with no pleasure on the prospect of their sons plunging across the English channel toward the strongest defenses that science can devise and pitting themselves against millions upon millions of men and women fighting to the very last for their homes.

No, this is scarcely the time to beat the drums in Germany for the invasion of Britain.

Dr. Goebbels has teetered from the line before. Moreover, he is not the first modern minister to be censured.

His case is vaguely reminiscent of that of Britain's Earl Stanhope, then First Lord of the Admiralty, who was censured by No. 10 Downing street two years ago in the final uneasy April of Europe's peace.

Speaking in the aircraft carrier Ark Royal, before a stage backdrop embellished with a drawing of Dopey, the Disney dwarf, Lord Stanhope declared the whole British fleet was manning its anti-aircraft guns "so as to be ready for anything that might happen."

A couple of hours later all

AP Summary of War News of Today

(By The Associated Press)

British Imperial and French forces closed in on 4,000-year-old Damascus today, at the end of the first week of their campaign to take Syria and Lebanon out of Vichy's control and nullify them as assets in Berlin's war plans.

Authoritative sources in London said that the Vichy defenders of the Syrian capital had abandoned the town of Kessouh, 10 miles away, falling back close to the walls of the unfortified city.

The fall of Damascus—a potential turning point in the allied offensive of liberation and protection for the French-mandated lands, if not a pivotal development for the whole turn of events in Africa and the Middle East—was expected within a few hours, if it had not already been formally surrendered.

The battle for the Levant states had discordant echoes thousands of miles away in a heightening clash of views between Vichy and Washington.

Hull Accuses Vichy

United States Secretary of State Hull stungingly accused Vichy of doing Germany's fighting for her in the Levant and by the sharpness of his words raised the possibility that the United States might act soon to back up warnings against Vichy's collaboration with Berlin.

Among the possibilities were: (1) Refusal of further funds to the Vichy government from the approximately $1,500,000,000 of French assets frozen in the United States; (2) breach of diplomatic relations with Vichy, opening the way for recognition of General Charles De Gaulle's Free French committee.

"...The original scheme of the Darlan-Laval group to deliver France politically, economically, socially and militarily to Hitler seems now to have been brought out into the open," Hull said.

German use of Syria is vital, the secretary of state went on, to Adolf Hitler's general plan to invade Iraq, Egypt, the Suez Canal Zone and Africa but even so Vichy "considered it necessary to contest bitterly this British effort to prevent Syria from being used as a German base."

Ambassador Surprised

French Ambassador Gaston Henry-Haye voiced "surprised disappointment" over Hull's statement and argued that the resistance in the Levant was dutiful fulfillment of France's obligation to protect her territory and that—in effect—the French people believed their leader, Marshal Petain, could do no wrong.

The titanic struggle by sea and air between Germany and Britain was marked today by reports that:

British warships had sunk the seventh raiding companion of the destroyed German battleship Bismarck. This boosted the toll of the Bismarck's auxiliaries to six supply ships and one armed trawler.

A strong RAF force once again straddled the berths of the German battleships Scharnhorst and Gneisenau at Brest, France, but this time, it was said, their targets included a 10,000-ton German cruiser, possibly the Prinz Eugen, consort of the Bismarck just before British torpedoes pounded her to pieces 400 miles off Brest May 27.

Ruhr Valley Bombed

Germany's "Pittsburgh region", the Ruhr valley, was bombed for the third consecutive night with blasting emphasis on the Schwerte factory zone.

Seven German bombers were destroyed in raids on Britain during the night—a notable success for the British, considering the small scale of the attacks.

The score hinted anew at some secret service or technique and gave point to an utterance of Labor Minister Ernest Bevin last night that "the day is not far distant when you will be equally safe at night in your beds as you are in the daytime."

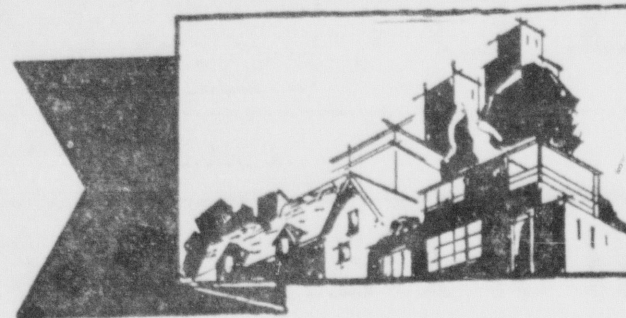

German night raiders struck at objectives in England's eastern and southern coastal regions, with accent on airports.

On the diplomatic front, German Foreign Minister von Ribbentrop and his Italian counterpart, Count Ciano, had a rendezvous in Venice.

Political circles in Rome said that Croatia would sign the three-power axis pact. Diplomatic representatives of this little state, born of the axis dis-

SMALL HOMES • STORES

APARTMENTS

by PAUL T. HAAGEN, A.I.A.

LUXURY OF TODAY'S HOME

By Paul T. Haagen
Home building throughout the United States has taken a great upturn, so that construction is greater in volume than at any time during the past ten years. Not only is there more home building but there is better home building, because in today's home people are having more conveniences and more comfort and more luxury built in than has been the case heretofore.

There have been so many new devices, appliances and equipment developed in the last few years that the small home today would put to shame the far costlier home of some few years past.

One of the features of new homes today is the use of glass, which means that the traditional styles and methods of construction will eventually be greatly changed so that the smaller house may have large window openings of glass or glass blocks and particularly of glass. As a result, there will be views, vistas, light and ventilation secured.

Glass blocks enable the small home owner to get the daylight inside the house in a soft, diffused glow, with insulation. This is especially desirable on those side walls where the view is not desirable. Glass block is a useful building unit.

One of the important considerations in today's homes is the larger lot sizes and better highways. With the advent of the automobile, good roads and quick transportation, movement of families away from crowded districts of the city into the country or suburbs has been encouraged.

Safety is also an important trend. One of the best ways to reduce accidents in the home is the elimination of the hazards of falls, etc. Dark stairs and halls are unsafe. Slippery floors are to be avoided. Fire hazards should be eliminated so far as possible.

These are just a few of the things that make the home more luxurious today than was the case even twenty years ago.

"AWAY FROM IT ALL"

Picture yourself this summer, and many summers, huddled up in this cozy little snugery on a quiet lake, while telephones jangle and traffic clatters . . . somewhere else.

It would be fun to build it yourself. After the foundation, which means only a few low-cost piers, such as concrete blocks, set in footings, the framing is hardly more than two days' work for a couple of good carpenters. The rest of the construction is largely simple hammer-and-saw carpentry you can do yourself . . . and like it.

It wouldn't cost much, and there's a world of satisfaction in having your own "country estate." Write the National Lumber Manufacturers Association, 117 Connecticut Avenue, Washington, D. C., for details, referring to Design J11.

Concrete Floor Paint

A reader writes: "We have the problem of painting our new basement floor. The floor was made with waterproofed concrete, with drain tiles around the wall and under the floor, and properly laid in cinders. Please tell me what we can do to paint this concrete floor so it will not flake off or scuff."

To paint a concrete floor laid directly on the ground is always a problem. Even if the floor is aged and seems dry, there is a certain amount of moisture that will work up from the ground which is likely to prevent the paint holding on to the surface.

The way to prove that your floor is perfectly dry is to lay a piece of linoleum on the floor for several days. If it does not bulge or lift or show any moisture on the under side after a few days, it is safe to paint the floor and it will remain satisfactory.

To neutralize any possibility of free lime or alkali in the floor affecting the paint, it is recommended that the floor first be given a sulphite of zinc treatment or a coat of one of the chemical mixed water sizes which become insoluble after drying and will form a safe bond for the final paint coats. Then use either a coat of one of the lead and oil paints or a spar liquid reduced with turpentine. This should be allowed to dry before the final finish is put on.

THE AVERAGE HOME SIZE

From statistics that seem to be authentic, the 5-room house remains the most popular home size throughout the country; the next size is the 6-room residence; and a smaller percentage of homes have 4 rooms or less.

HOW ABOUT YOUR HOME?

The Trend to Glass

By Paul T. Haagen, Architect

BASEMENT OR UTILITY ROOM?

Dear Mr. Haagen:
We are wondering if we should have a basement under our new house or a utility room on the first floor. Please tell us the advantages of each.

Yours truly,
J. A. T.

It is said that basements are costly, dark and a storage space for odds and ends that had better be thrown out or disposed of. Basements make added work and steps to climb, but they do make the first floor warmer in winter than when there is no space under the floor unless the first floor is well insulated.

If one is to do without a basement, be sure that the bottom of the first floor joists are at least two feet above the ground, and that there is a tight foundation wall extending from grade to the joists. This wall should have ventilators at about 8 foot intervals. If there is no basement, it is wise to have a double floor and heavy insulating paper placed between the two floors.

The utility room, with its modern heating plant and efficient method of laundering, may be located close or adjacent to the kitchen and much of the work in each room may be carried on simultaneously. This location saves many steps and climbing of stairs.

Also, a utility room being above the ground is more cheerful, light and a better ventilated place in which to work. Storage closets may be built into the room for soiled clothes, storage brooms, mops, cleaning equipment and other miscellaneous storage.

The heating plant in most modern houses may be put in this utility room and a shower bath if desired.

In old houses, walls and ceilings may be covered with one of the many wallboards or tile pattern boards which come finished or unfinished as desired.

Home Building Briefs

Elaborate exterior cornices consume a great deal of carpenter time and do not contribute greatly to the livability of your home. For lowest cost, keep down elaborate exterior detail.

Many built-in items such as corner cupboards, bookcases, linen closets, etc., can be purchased ready-made from a "stock" mill-work catalog at less cost than the labor and material required to build them on the job.

The longer the chimney flue, the better the draft in the fireplace. Therefore, don't be afraid to extend the chimney a good distance above the roof.

A plain, smooth-troweled concrete porch floor will cost considerably less than a finished one.

BOY'S HAVEN

A boy's room may be practical, attractive and a haven in which the boy may dream of explorations and pirates. This room with two bunks has the walls covered with pine planks that give a nautical expression . . . Pine is a sturdy wood that offers much as a wall decoration.

erably less than one laid in brick, tile or stone. Such a floor is easier to clean than one made up of many small parts of masonry units.

If the porch is screened you can do away with the screen entrance door and its cost may be applied toward the porch screens.

Shoe moulding around the edge of your baseboard will look neat for a longer period, if it is finished to match the floor rather than painted to match the baseboard.

You don't have to have a dark basement, when at comparatively little cost areaways can be developed and large, modern windows installed.

MIRRORS

If you have a narrow space between two windows, a mirrored panel adds to the illusion of space and is quite decorative as well. It is possible also to place on exterior surfaces will frequently help them retain their gloss longer.

Oh, for a Summer Cottage!

Every family has an ambition to have a second home . . . no matter how modest . . . a back-to-nature retreat secluded from telephones, traffic, neighbors, and other distractions . . . a place where a fellow can run around in his undershirt, if he feels like it.

The size, shape, and convenience of such a hide-out are usually of little consequence. A one-room cabin may serve the purpose.

Such a summer "estate" is within the reach of almost every family. In fact, Dad rather fancies himself as a handy man with hammer and saw, and under his direction the family can do the bulk of the construction work itself.

Your lumber dealer doubtless has a selection of stock plans of simple, summer cottages. After placing the foundation, which usually consists of a few low-cost piers, such as concrete blocks set in footings, the framing of a building of this kind is seldom more than two days' work for a couple of good carpenters. The rest of the construction is often simple hammer-and-saw carpentry. The placing of the siding is not difficult; neither is shingling the roof and laying the floors. Almost any man, handy with tools, can finish the job once it has been framed.

PAINT ASBESTOS SHINGLES

Before painting asbestos shingles it is advisable to apply a coat of spar varnish to give the paint good anchorage. Allow this to dry several days before painting.

When Miss Mildred Bradford of Oregon goes to the altar of the Methodist church in Oregon this afternoon at 4 o'clock to become the bride of Charles K. Lane, farm foreman for the California Packing corporation at Rochelle, she will be wearing a wedding dress of white starched chiffon, chenille embroidered in leaf design, and fashioned with a sweetheart neckline, long sleeves, and a long train.

This afternoon's bride is the elder of the Clare Bradfords' two daughters, and her father will give her in marriage. The Rev. Paul E. Turk will read the service in which Miss Bradford will exchange marriage vows with the son of the C. A. Lanes of Sullivan, Ill.

Miss Bradford's bridal veil will fall to fingertip length from a tiara of seed pearls. She will carry a white Bible, with stephanotis florets knotted in the shower of white satin ribbons. Her pearl necklace was a gift from her bridegroom.

Rainbow Colors
The bride's attendants will be dressed in chiffon and lace dresses in rainbow colors, designed with basque waists and full skirts. Miss Jane Bradford, as her sister's maid of honor, has chosen pink, and will carry a colonial bouquet of flowers to match her gown.

Willard Schweitzer of DeKalb will serve Mr. Lane as best man, ushering will be Loren and La Verne Bradford, brothers of the bride, and Elmer Leeds, cousin of the bridegroom.

Palms, white gladioli and white tapers will decorate the altar for the single ring ceremony. Before the ceremony, the Misses Louise and Wilma Lane, sisters of the bridegroom, will play a 15-minute prelude on the organ and piano.

Their recital will include Godard's "Berceuse," Grieg's "Ich Liebe Dich," Bohn's "Calm as the Night," D'Hardelot's "Because," and Cadman's "At Dawning." ## A Thought for Today

Because strait is the gate, and narrow is the way, which leadeth unto life, and few there be that find it.—Matthew 7:14.

Reflect that life, like every other blessing, derives its value from its use alone.—Samuel Johnson.

What Wins Wars

Two things won the World War quite as much as military victory:

1. The growing realization in Germany that she could not win.
2. The vision implanted in the minds and hearts of the people of Europe of a better world.

No less than the breakthrough on the Western Front, no less than the collapse of Bulgaria and Turkey under military pressure, these great factors gradually undermined morale in Germany, bolstered it in the free world.

So again, Germany will be beaten whenever Germany generally realizes she cannot win. The beginning of that realization might come this fall, if, despite Mediterranean successes, she has still failed to crush England. The whole nazi regime has been nourished and fed on victory. Once that goal recedes into the impossible, it may not be necessary to beat the German armies. Confronted with a desolate prospect of years of defensive struggle, that well-oiled machine might quickly become a military jallopy.

The other element is necessary, too. It is useless to offer the world the choice of "The New Order—or nothing." Not a single people has turned voluntarily to the New Order. It has been imposed by force on every people which now lives under it, including the Italians and the Japanese. The New Order offers no attraction to any people which have ever breathed the air of freedom.

A negative cause, however, is not enough. Badly needed is a more concrete plan for the establishment of the Four Freedoms to which the remaining free countries are devoted. Those freedoms are dear to millions in the world, millions now under the nazi heel, but they must be shown at least a rough draft of a means of attaining them and putting them into force.

There is good evidence that Hitler's so-called "New Order" is an improvisation. He didn't start out to create a New Order. He started out to aggrandize Germany. When he found that people after people were falling under his control, something had to be devised to give them hope for the future that would enable them to stomach a repulsive present. So the New Order idea was hastily improvised and trotted out.

No one not a German wants any part of it. But you can't beat something with nothing. The world must be shown as definitely as circumstances permit, that the free peoples who still fight on are capable, after they have won, of really setting up and operating a free world. That in itself would be a war weapon of tremendous power.

House Cleaning and Fire

Mrs. America is not turning her expert hand to the job of spring house cleaning, and woe betide all interference! There she stands—a towel guarding her coiffure, with a broom and a scrubbing brush—mistress of all she surveys.

There is panic amid the cobwebs, the dust particles shudder despairingly. Wise husbands stay downtown for dinner. Smart children absent themselves.

But the National Board of Fire Underwriters dares to raise a voice. "Mrs. America," it says, "there were 1,500 fires a day in this country in 1940. Most of them were in homes. They cost the lives of thousands of loved ones, the loss of cherished possessions, of hundreds of millions of dollars. Can't we do better than that from now on?"

And so the National Board, which observed its 75th anniversary this year, tries to show Mrs. America the best way to fight fire is before it starts. House-clean the fire hazards, it advises. Beware of rubbish in the attic and basement. Never clean with gasoline—it's liquid dynamite. Discard non-metal waste baskets and ash containers. Use only approved electrical devices and equipment. Put all oil or paint-soaked rags and clothing in the furnace, lest spontaneous ignition break out.

"Fire-proof the American home" is a good slogan for house cleaning time. And Mr. America, along with his Mrs., has a dividend-paying job laid out for him here.

Another Man Dies

A great many men, and women, are dying sudden and violent deaths these days. The fact that one more is to die in Berlin is perhaps not very interesting. Yet it is interesting, too. He is going to die because he listened to the radio, and liked what he heard enough to make copies of it and pass it along to others he thought would be interested.

He is a German, you see, and the program to which he listened came from out side Germany's border. So because he listened, and wrote it down, and passed it along, he is to die. That is official, from the official news agency in Berlin. Some 1,500 others of his compatriots got off easier, with fines and jail sentences, because they just listened and did not copy out the forbidden words.

The old order changeth, yielding place to new!

Transporting a Million

With the summer maneuver season not yet really opened, the railroads have already in the first four months of the year transported more than a million members of the armed forces. More than half these were on 1890 special trains, the rest were carried incidental to regular service.

The transport burden will probably increase this summer as hundreds of thousands of troops are concentrated at various points for maneuvers. Nevertheless, performance to date gives some hope that the rail confusions of 1917-1918 will not occur again, either as to transportation or the armed forces themselves or the materials to supply them and keep the national economy going at the same time.

It is clear that only a degree of preparedness which frightens off attack or is strong enough to repel any attack that comes will be adequate.—Representative Hutton W. Sumners, Texas.

News Behind THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

(Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc., reproduction in whole or in part strictly prohibited.)

Washington, June 13 — Jurists never talk of such things, and the president certainly will not, but the inspiration for Mr. Roosevelt's rather surprising choice of Harlan Stone as Chief Justice is understood to have come from the retiring Chief Justice, Mr. Hughes, and ex-Senator, now Justice, Byrnes. At least both Hughes and Byrnes recommended Stone.

Stone is a friendly, well-liked judge, more inclined toward administrative pursuits than the others. He has been the only frequent visitor to the press room, for instance, inquiring into the mechanics of how matters were handled. He will no doubt exert some quieting, fatherly influence upon the other young new deal appointees who have been scrapping among themselves.

The Byrnes selection was promoted mainly by Senator Pat Harrison, and line Mississippi-Jackson, of course, was the choice of all the new deal.

Stone has the confidence but did not have the support of the more radical new dealers. They accepted the appointment, however, as a Roosevelt move to promote national political unity. It is in line with, and perhaps over the line of, the choices of Republicanism and Stimsonism, and the approval of foreign policy of Wilkie. Many a minority leader in wailing out of sight that Roosevelt is now working the helm of the Republican party.

The new dealers can afford to take the selection of the liberal Coolidge-Hoover Republican graciously. The court is now 8 to 1 in favor of the fundamental legal concept of new dealing. Justice Roberts is the only occasional objector.

Top tribunal is thus set for many years to come in favor of liberally interpreting the Constitution (rather than the strict letter of it), limiting the powers of the court itself in favor of accepting congressional interpretations, and the fact-finding verdicts of government bureaus of a quasi-judicial nature. Twenty to thirty precedents (established court laws of years standing) were overturned this session. More will fall in the coming years.

In view of the youth of a majority of the justices, it appears this dominant new meaning of law will continue to be expanded for perhaps 20 years or more.

It had been assumed for many weeks in new deal senate circles that Jackson had a definite promise of the Chief Justiceship. The stories came from senators, but none professed to have information from Roosevelt. If Jackson had such a promise and released the president from it, he no doubt knew his appointment would have roused considerable senate dissatisfaction. The isolationist group has always held against him the legal opinion sanctioning the president's destroyer transfer to Britain. Some embarrassing debate would have been encountered already had been confirmed in the end, though the nomination would is of no real importance, but Jackson apparently did not have a law degree. His Who's Who biography mentioned that he attended Albany law school, and he had a long distinguished service in the New York law, beginning in 1913, which fully qualified him.

The current gossip about personal differences among new dealers on the court would not be worth mentioning if it were not apparent by now that the exceptional number of their dissenting opinions. Justice Murphy was the object of much new deal conversational criticism for a time. Justices Frankfurter and Black have differed on numerous occasions. Justices Douglas, Murphy and even Stone have been free dissenters.

Fewest dissenting opinions this session were rendered by Justice Frankfurter, who has thus been established as leader of the free thinking court majority.

More Dixon baseball fans than you count on your fingers and with those of your Uncle Horace tossed in, attended the White Sox-Yankees game in Chicago the other night. One foursome included Bob Ambrose, Miss Anna Marie Crabtree and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Underwood—all of whom almost had to take a taxi out to their bleacher seats in centerfield. ## Patty Berg and Mrs. Weil Meet for Golf Crown Cincinnati, O., June 14.—(AP)—Freckle-faced, red-haired Patty Berg, 23-year-old Minneapolis professional, met Mrs. Burt Weil, 37-year-old Cincinnati housewife, today over the 36-hole route for the women's Western Open Golf championship.

And both admit they're lucky to be scrambling for the crown, instead of sitting on the sidelines. Miss Berg got into the finals by beating Miss Betty Jameson, the two-time national amateur ruler from San Antonio, one up in 21 holes, after two outstanding "breaks," while Mrs. Weil said during last Monday's qualifier that she was "going along just for the ride."

Patty Gets Eagle Deuce
The Minneapolis star plopped a 90-yard shot into the cup on the fourth green for an eagle deuce, the ball going in on the fly, for her first "break." On the eleventh, Miss Berg's ball struck the pin while Miss Jameson's caddy was holding it, and the referee awarded the hole to the Minnesota miss.

Miss Jameson, flustered, mused up two shots on the 12th, finally conceding the hole to go two down, but she steadied and matched par on eight of the next nine holes, going one under on the 17th where she squared the match. They halved the next three, and then Miss Berg ran a half-styled putt on the 21st to clinch the finals position.

Mrs. Weil, who abdicated as Ohio queen four years ago after winning the state championship three times in a row, has practically confined her play to week-ends since then. In yesterday's semi-final she defeated Mrs. James D. Flatt, Jr., of Dayton, the state medal play queen, by 3 to 2.

Louis Rushes Sparring Mates in Preparation For Conn

BROWN BOMBER CHANGES TACTICS FOR NEXT BOUT

Champion Intends to Dispatch Billy in First Round

By GAYLE TALBOT

New York, June 14.—(AP)—Those who are predicting that Billy Conn will win the heavy-weight championship next Wednesday night because Joe Louis made a rather messy job of beating Buddy Baer are laying themselves open to a painful surprise. Conn, of course, is included.

The Joe Louis who is getting ready to stalk Billy Boy under the Polo Grounds lights is a different customer from the heat-sufferer who approached the Baer bout with a sort of weary indifference, knowing he could stop Buddy whenever he got ready and seeing no reason to hurry.

"That was awful," Joe says now. "I trained under a tin roof down there."

In No Hurry

The day before the Baer fight Louis sat in his dressing room and sweated, his mind wandering casually to baseball and the army. When asked how quickly he expected to knock out Baer he roused himself only sufficiently to say "I don't get pay to get in a hurry this kind of weather."

And that was about the way he fought Buddy, exchanging licks almost casually, even after Buddy's ponderous left half-knocked, half-shoved him through the ropes in the opening chapter.

Then Baer opened a cut on Joe's left eyelid, and while they patched up the eye between rounds, Joe's handlers told him to give Buddy the works and take no chances on the wound being worsened. Only then did the crowd see the real Joe Louis—the one I suspect Conn will face from the first bell next Wednesday.

Was Loafing

All of which is to say that Louis has been loafing somewhat all through his strenuous campaign of the winter and spring, putting for just enough effort to win in each case. This is one of the admission of one of Joe's closest advisers, who does not wish to be quoted and sees no particular harm in Joe's tactics.

"The main thing was they wanted to see Joe fight," he said. "As a matter of fact, Joe had planned to make an exhibition tour the past winter, but Promoter Mike Jacobs convinced us it would be better to have a series of title fights. Under the conditions, it was not to be expected that Joe would be able to get excited about every fight. But you watch him go against Conn."

There is no doubt in anybody's mind in Louis' camp that the champion intends to dispatch Conn in the first round if he can. Joe merely says "I'll get him quick as I can." That is the way he is training, rushing his sparring partners every second.

17-YEAR-OLD INDOOR CHAMP MAY BLAST NATIONAL CLAY COURTS TENNIS TOURNAMENT

Chicago June 14.—(AP)—Jimmy Evert, 17-year-old national junior indoor champion, may get a chance to blast the National Clay Courts Tennis tournament with an upset today.

The Chicago youngster was booked to face the veteran Bryant Grant in today's inaugural over the River Forest club courts and observers gave him an excellent chance to jolt Grant on the basis on Evert's vastly improved play recently. The only hitch in the schedule, said officials, was that Grant had been delayed in Atlanta and might not arrive in time for the match.

Many of the seeded players, including Don McNeill of Gambier, O., the defending champion, were engaged in the triple A invitational meet at St. Louis and did not appear today. However Bobby Riggs, who lost the title to McNeill last year, was on hand to play J. E. Russell of Evanston, Ill. Riggs was seeded No. 2.

In the women's division, Pauline Betz of Los Angeles, seeded No. 1 in the absence of Champion Alice Marble who turned professional, opposed Marion Woolhiser of Winnetka, Ill., in her first match.

CRAIG WOOD IS FIVE STROKES OFF PACE IN MAHONING GOLF MEET

BY LARRY HAUCK

Girard, O., June 14.—(AP)—With National Open Champion Craig Wood five strokes off the pace, a half dozen of the nation's golf stars scrambled for the position of favorite today as the $5,000 Mahoning Valley Open went into the second 18.

With the 72-hole classic started the sideline boys leaned toward the long hitters and two of them brawny Lawson Little and Pennsylvania's Ben Hogan, came through the first test sharing the lead with scorching three-under-par 67's. They were forced to divide honors with Byron Nelson, the P.G.A. champion, who quietly ripped the course apart with his comparatively short game that stresses deadly irons.

Clayton Heafner, the strapping sharpshooter from Linville, N. C., was only one back with a 68 and the 69 cards carried the names of Jimmy Thomson of Chicopee, Mass. Bobby Cruikshank of Richmond, Va.; Ted Luttrell of Wilkesburg, Pa. and Al Espinosa of Akron.

After today's firing the field of 154 will be trimmed to 60 professional and 15 amateurs for tomorrow's 36-hole finals.

measures would have a tremendous effect on housing.

Likewise, there will be no wholesale evacuation of vulnerable cities. Instead, refuge will be arranged beforehand for the aged and infirm, expectant and nursing mothers, and children. All will have a choice in the matter, full knowing the consequences of their decision.

No Hysteria Flights

LaGuardia is definitely opposed to hysterical flights of population. In Europe it has served only to confound defense measures and aid the enemy.

British authorities tell OCD that evacuation was largely unsuccessful in London. At first they believed it necessary to ship out 1,000,000 women and children and the aged and infirm. This placed a terrific burden on the suburbs to house and absorb the newcomers in their community life.

And, within three months most of the evacuees were back home.

Many were less satisfied than those who stayed home and took their chances of bombardment.

There is, however, a very real headache for property owners in the prospect of city ordinances

governing the sinking of merchant

ships and also asking an immediate and forthright explanation of the Robin Moor incident.

In the same communication, it was said, Hull may demand in-

demnification for American lives

and property lost as well as guarantees against future attacks on merchants flying the American flag.

35 Still Missing

Only 11 crewmen and passengers, picked up by the Brazilian vessel Ozorio, have been rescued.

Thirty-five others, including three women and a child, are still missing 24 days after the Robin Moor was sent to the bottom of the South Atlantic by a torpedo and shells from the submarine's deck gun.

Whatever action the secretary of state and President Roosevelt decide upon will be taken after the scheduled arrival here Monday of Philip P. Williams, secretary of the American embassy in Rio de Janeiro. He is bringing the official report of William J. Linthicum, American Consul at Pernambuco, Brazil, who obtained from the 11 survivors their dramatic accounts of the sinking.

Emphatically Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles declared this government did not intend to enter into a controversy over whether the Robin Moor carried contraband cargo. The facts of the case, he said, were established beyond dispute. Elsewhere these were summed up authoritatively

as:

1. The Robin Moor, flying the flag of a country with which Germany maintains diplomatic relations, was known to be prohibited by the neutrality act from carrying munitions and was bound for ports not included in any combat zone.

2. The vessel was sunk without examination of her papers or cargo—which would have shown conclusively that she carried no arms, ammunition or other war materials.

3. The passengers were cast adrift so far from land or possible rescue vessels that no precautions, as required by treaty obligations, could be said to have been taken for their safety.

Further Action on

and asserted he found it hard to believe the submarine commander sank the vessel "without some advice from higher authority."

A leading critic of administration foreign policy, Senator Wheeler (D-Mont.), described the incident as "something I would denounce." He said, however, that he thought "at least we ought to await an explanation before we jump at conclusions—if there is an explanation."

Veteran Senator Glass (D-Va.)

declared that if it was proved beyond question that Germany was responsible for the sinking "they ought to be made to pay for it."

"You know what my views are,"

he told newsmen. "I think we ought to go over there and shoot hell out of every U-boat. I've said that before and I still believe it."

In well-informed quarters it was predicted that Secretary Hull's first move would be to dispatch to Berlin a note of strong protest citing Germany's treaty pledges

governing the sinking of merchant

ships and also asking an immediate and forthright explanation of

the Robin Moor incident.

In the same communication, it

was said, Hull may demand in-

demnification for American lives

and property lost as well as guarantees against future attacks on

merchants flying the American flag.

Expect Many Former Dixonites Here For Homecoming July 4

Interesting Responses Received by Holiday Committee Chairman

Former Dixon residents who will be returning for a visit during the two day Fourth of July celebration and Homecoming, July 4 and 5, will far exceed the number of visitors last year, judging from replies to invitations which have been mailed out by Chairman J. Fred Hofmann and his homecoming committee. Some who were unable to be present last year but have learned of the success of the 1940 program, have assured the committee of their presence next month.

Invitations have been mailed out from the Chamber of Commerce offices to hundreds of former Dixonites and their friends, urging them to be present during this year's two-day celebration. While it is very doubtful that a special train will bring the Chicago-Dixonite club members to Dixon this year, it is known that plans for special excursion rates on regular trains stopping at Dixon are being arranged.

Interesting Responses

Responses to some of the invitations which have been received are quite interesting.

"In response to your invitation, many former Dixonites now living in Chicago have made plans for attending the homecoming this year," Mrs. Ida Clemmer, 2130 Giddings street, Chicago.

"We missed the homecoming last year and our friends told us we missed plenty. We will be happy to attend July 4th and 5th this year," R. A. Rutherford, 1446 Catalpa ave., Chicago.

"We are going to be with you again this year to celebrate the Fourth and the Homecoming. There will be eight in our party," Bert Boogardner, Oregon.

"We're bigger and better homecomings. Is there anything I can do to make it better?" Bernice Quest, 200 East Superior street, Chicago.

"I am sure that you and your committee are very capable of making this a real Dixon day. We were there last year and from my observation, it could not be improved upon," R. R. Burch, 123 North Stone ave., LaGrange.

"Couldn't possibly make it last year, but we will be present on both days in 1941 to meet our old friends," D. J. Lightner, Jefferson City, Mo.

"Can't think of a finer place to meet friends and to thoroughly enjoy your fine homecoming program, than at the Elks club house, and hope we meet there again the Fourth," Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Parke, Moberly, Mo.

"Never experienced such hospitable treatment and true welcome as that extended at your Homecoming last year. Your committees and the Dixon Elks proved royal hosts. Trust the same conditions prevail this year," Homer Claridge, Milwaukee, Wis.

"I've heard it said, Dixon always did. Dixon has done and Dixon will do a royal job of entertaining in 1941," Thomas Aker, Chicago.
